C.P.R. CROSSING

C.P.R. officials again interviewed the town council of Didsbury on Monday night, in connection with the closing of the railway crossing on Waterloo street. The discussion that took place was largely legal in its aspect, but it transpired that documents in possession of C.P.R. showed that a former town council of Didsbury undertook not to oppose the closing of crossing on Waterloo street, providing Hespeller Street was left open.

As a result of the meeting on Monday night, the council held another session on Wednesday, when the following motion was passed:

Moved by J. E. Liesemer and seconded by A. W. Axtell—That the council do not oppose the proposed closing of the railway crossing on Waterloo Street provided the Canadian Pacific (1) Open up the railway crossing on Hiebert street, north of the present crossing on Waterloo street and do all the work necessary to such opening including grading, also supply all the material in connection therewith, and maintain the crossing after it is opened. (2) Furnish the Town free of charge at Didsbury with three (3) cars of cinders for construction of sidewalks. (3) Properly fill in and level off the ditch on C.P.R. property to the east of the United Grain Growers Elevator. (4) In future supply all material for the maintenance of the Railway crossing on Hespeller Street.

In making this motion it is taken into account that the Railway Company before closing the crossing on Waterloo Street will have to apply for an order to the Board of Railway Commissioners, and that being the case any ratepayer objecting will have the privilege of stating his or her objection before the said Board.

Voted for the motion: Councillors, Axtell, Fisher, Liesemer and Reiber. Voted against: Councillor Berscht. Absent: Councillor Tighe.

ARMISTICE DAY.

On Armistice Day, Wednesday, November 11th, it is estimated 150,000 Albertans will wear the red replica of the Flanders' poppy, in honour of the men who gave up their lives during the Great War. In Didsbury, as has been the custom for several years, the Women's Institute will undertake to sell the poppy, and the emblem will be offered for sale on Monday next, Thanksgiving Day. In this work the services of a few young ladies would be appreciated. Volunteers should apply to the officers of the Didsbury W.I. These poppies are all made by disabled soldiers in hospitals throughout the Dominion. After they have been paid for their work the entire proceeds of the sale will go to the relief fund of the Great War Veterans' Association, and will be used to alleviate distress among ex-service men and their dependents during the coming winter.

this notice at least thirty-three resident electors of the municipality petition the council to submit such by-law to the vote of the resident electors of the municipality the Council will proceed to pass the same.

Rates on Small Parcels Raised

Rates of postage have been increased 50 per cent. on small parcels mailed in the province of Alberta, according to a new rates card issued by the postmaster-general through the Calgary post-office on Saturday morning. The rate on one-pound parcels within a twenty mile radius of Calgary has been raised from 5 cents to 10 cents and for a one-pound parcel outside the twenty mile radius, the rate has been raised from 10 to 15 cents.

The rate on similar parcels from Alberta to British Columbia or Saskatchewan has been raised from 10 cents to 20 cents. The rate on one pound parcels from Alberta to Manitoba or the Yukon has been increased from 12 cents to 20 cents, and on parcels for Ontario or the maritime provinces or Quebec the rate has been raised from 12 to 25 cents.

The increases which, though smaller as the weight of the parcel increases, affect parcels up to 11 pounds in weight, the maximum allowance for parcels now being 15 pounds. Rates for the heavier parcels run from 30 cents within the 20 mile radius to as high as $1.75 for parcels to Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime provinces. The official rate cards may be received by applying to the postmaster's office.

The Chautauqua

Next Wednesday, November 11, commences Didsbury's Chautauqua and judging from the posters a good program is assured. A copy of these may be obtained from any of the stores in town.

Season tickets may be obtained of any of the committee, and if bought before the opening day the price is $2.00 for adults and $1.00 for children, plus war tax. After opening day the price is advanced to $2.50.

It will be noted that there will be a four day Chautauqua this year, compared with three days previously.

The talent coming here next week is stated to be superior even to that of last year, and exceptional pains have been taken in arranging the program.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Burns leave this week to spend the winter at Victoria, B.C.

Don't forget the Armistice supper, to be given by the Union Ladies' Aid in the Opera House on Monday (Thanksgiving Day) at 6.30 p.m. A good program is arranged, including an address by Capt. McCall of Calgary. Admission will be 25c and 50c, including supper and program.

The harvest thanksgiving service held at St. Cyprian's on Sunday afternoon was attended by a large number of worshippers, the church in fact being crowded. Rev. Mr. Clay, who has but recently returned from England, officiated, and delivered during the course of the service an address in keeping with the occasion. The church was very tastefully decorated with flowers, fruit, grain, etc.

Lumber For the Orient

British Columbia Sending Heavy Shipments to Japan and China

According to figures recently worked out by exporters, British Columbia is contributing about 20 per cent. of the lumber exports of the Pacific coast to the Orient and the Atlantic seaboard. Out of 50,000,000 feet of lumber being sent out on an average to Japan and China by the coast sawmills, British Columbia sawmills supply about 10,000,000 feet monthly.

BAREE, SON OF KAZAN

by James Oliver Curwood

A LOVE EPIC OF THE FAR NORTH

Copyright, 1917, by Doubleday, Page & Co.

"BAREE, SON OF KAZAN," a Vitaphone Picture, With Wolf, the War Dog. Is an Adaptation of This Story

SYNOPSIS

Nepeese, daughter of Pierrot, the trapper, carried Baree, the young wolf-dog, from her father's cabin into the woods. She was fearful of the return of McTaggart, the factor, whom, a few minutes before, she had pushed into a twenty-foot chasm when he made unwelcome advances to her. She met her father, who had learned that McTaggart had blood poison, the result of a bite on the hand by Baree when the factor found the dog in one of his traps.

It was not like other rains Baree had known. It was an inundation sweeping down out of the blackness of the skies. Within five minutes the interior of the balsam shelter was a showerbath—half an hour of that torrential downpour, and Nepeese was soaked to the skin. The water ran in little rivulets down her back and breast; it trickled in tiny streams from her drenched braids and dropped from her long lashes, and the blanket under her was wet as a mop. To Baree it was almost as bad as his near-drowning in the stream after his fight with Papayuchisew, and he snuggled closer and closer under the sheltering arm of the Willow. It seemed an interminable time before the thunder rolled far to the east, and the lightning died away into distant and intermittent flashings. Even after that the rain fell for another hour. Then it stopped as suddenly as it had begun.

With a laughing gasp Nepeese rose to her feet. The water gurgled in her moccasins as she walked out into the open. She paid no attention to Baree—and he followed her. Across the open in the tree-tops the last of the stormclouds were drifting away.

Nepeese looked down and saw Baree. He was standing clear and unleased, with freedom on all sides of him. Yet he did not run. He was waiting, wet as a water rat, with his eyes on her expectantly. Nepeese made a movement toward him, and hesitated.

"No, you will not run away, Baree."

NERVOUS BREAK-DOWN

Pains in Back and Legs Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Ford, Ontario.—"I had a nervous break-down, as it is called, with severe pains in my back and legs, and with fainting spells which left me very weak. I was nervous and could not sleep nor eat as I should and spent much time in bed. I was in this state, more or less, for over two years before Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me by my neighbor. Before I had taken five doses I was sitting up in bed, and when the first bottle was taken I was out of bed and able to walk around the house. During my sickness I had been obliged to get some one to look after my home for me, but thanks to the Vegetable Compound I am now able to look after it myself. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine in turn with the Vegetable Compound, and I certainly recommend these medicines to any one who is not enjoying good health. I am quite willing for you to use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. J. SHEPHERD, 130 Jos. Janisse Avenue, Ford, Ontario.

Nervousness, irritability, painful times, run-down feelings and weakness are symptoms to be noted. Women suffering from these troubles, which they so often have, should give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. All druggists sell this medicine.

I will leave you free. And now we must have a fire!"

"A fire! Anyone but Pierrot might have said that she was crazy. Not a stem or twig in the forest that was not dripping! They could hear the trickle of running water all about them."

"There was no smoke coming from the chimney. The door was closed. Pierrot and Bush McTaggart were gone."

With her wet clothes clinging to her tightly, she was like a slim shadow as she crossed the soggy open and buried herself among the forest trees. Baree still followed. She went straight to a birch-tree that she had located that day and began tearing off the loose bark. An armful of this bark she carried close to the wigwam, and on it she heaped load after load of wet wood until she had a great pile. From a bottle in the wigwam she secured a dry match, and at the first touch of its tiny flame the birch-bark flared up like paper soaked in oil. Half an hour later the Willow's fire—if there had been no forest walls to hide it—could have been seen at the cabin a mile away. Not until it was blazing a dozen feet into the air did she cease piling wood on it. Then she drove sticks into the soft ground and over these sticks stretched the blanket out to dry. After that she began to undress.

She drew a deep breath, and her eyes shone with a sudden inspiration. Slowly her mouth formed into a round red O, and leaning still nearer to Baree, she whispered:

"It will be deep and sweet tonight. Ninga—yes, we will go!"

She called to him softly as she slipped on her wet moccasins and followed the creek into the forest. A hundred yards from the open she came to the edge of a pool. It was deep and full to-night, three times as big as it had been before the storm. She could hear the gurgle and inrush of water. On its ruffled surface the stars shone. For a moment or two she stood poised on a rock with the cool depths half a dozen feet below her. Then she flung back her hair and shot like a slim white arrow through the starlight.

Baree saw her go. He heard the plunge of her body. For half an hour he lay flat and still, close to the edge of the pool, and watched her. Sometimes she was just under him, floating silently, her hair forming a cloud darker than the water about her; again she was cutting over the surface almost as swiftly as the otters he had seen—and then with a sudden plunge she would disappear, and Baree's heart would quicken its pulse as he waited for her. Once she was gone a long time. He whined. He knew she was not like the beaver and the otter, and he was filled with an immense relief when she came up.

So their first night passed—storm, the cool, deep pool, the big fire; and later, when the Willow's clothes and the blanket had dried, a few hours' sleep. At dawn they returned to the cabin. It was a cautious approach. There was no smoke coming from the chimney. The door was closed. Pierrot and Bush McTaggart were gone.

CHAPTER XVI.

It was the beginning of August—the Flying-up Moon—when Pierrot returned from Lac Bain, and in three days more it would be the Willow's seventeenth birthday. He brought back with him many things for Nepeese—ribbons for her hair, real shoes, which she wore at times like the two Englishwomen at Nelson House, and chief glory of all, some wonderful red cloth for a dress. In the three winters she had spent at the Mission these women had made much of Nepeese. They had taught her to sew as well as to spell and read and pray, and at times there came to the Willow a compelling desire to do as they did.

So for three days Nepeese worked hard on her new dress and on her birthday she stood before Pierrot in a fashion that took his breath away. She had piled her hair in great glowing masses and coils on the crown of her head, as Yvonne, the younger of the Englishwomen, had taught her, and in the rich jet of it had half buried a vivid sprig of the crimson fire-flower. Under this, and the glow in her eyes, and the red flush of her lips and cheeks came the wonderful red dress, fitted to the slim and sinuous beauty of her form—as the style had been two winters ago at Nelson House. And under the dress, which reached just below the knees—Nepeese had quite forgotten the proper length, or else her material had run out—came the coup de maître of her toilet, real stockings and the wonderful shoes with high heels! She was a vision before which the gods of the forests might have felt their hearts stop beating. Pierrot turned her round and round without a word but smiling; but when she left him, followed by Baree, and limping a little in the tightness of her shoes, the smile faded from his face, leaving it cold and staring.

There was a change in Pierrot. During the three days of her dress-making, Nepeese had been quite too excited to notice this change, and Pierrot had tried to keep it from her. He had been away ten days on the trip to Lac Bain, and he brought back to Nepeese the joyous news that M'sieu McTaggart was very sick with pechipo—the blood-poison—news that made the Willow clap her hands and laugh happily. But he knew that the Factor would get well, and that he would come again to their cabin on the Gray Loon. And when next time he came—

It was when he was thinking of this that his face grew cold and hard, and his eyes burned. And he was thinking of it on this birthday, and even as her laughter floated to him like a song. Dies, in spite of her seventeen years, she was nothing but a child—a baby! She could not guess his horrible visions. And the dread of awakening her for all time from that beautiful childhood kept him from telling her the whole truth so that she might have understood fully and completely. Non, it should not be that. His soul beat with a great and gentle love. He, Pierrot Du Quesne, would do the watching. And she should laugh and sing and play—and have no share in the black forebodings that had come to spoil his life.

On this day there came up from the south, McDonald, the government map-maker. He was gray and grizzled, with a great, free laugh and a clean heart. Two days he remained with Pierrot. He told Nepeese of his daughters at home, of their mother, whom he worshipped more than anything else on earth—and before he went on in quest of the last timberline of Banksian pine, he took pictures of Willow as he had first seen her on her birthday: her hair piled in glossy coils and masses, her red dress, the high-heeled shoes. He carried the negatives on with him, promising Pierrot that he would get a picture back in some way. Thus fate works in its strange and apparently innocent way as it spins its web of tragedy.

A WOMAN'S WORK IS NEVER DONE

No Wonder Health Gives Out and She Becomes Weak and Despondent

It is literally true concerning woman in the home that her work is never done. She starts with housework when she rises in the morning and is kept busy up to the time she retires at night. The work must be done whether she is feeling well or not. It is no wonder that she often breaks down under the strain. She becomes breathless at slight exertion, feels exhausted if she walks upstairs. Headaches and dizzy spells become frequent, and life seems a burden. Much of this trouble is due to the fact that her blood has become thin and watery, and to regain her good health she must take a reliable blood-enriching tonic such as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The great value of this tonic medicine is shown by the statement of Mrs. Mary Nolan, Lintlaw, Sask., who says: "When I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I was a physical wreck. It was with great difficulty that I could do light housework. I suffered from headaches, my heart would beat violently at the least exertion, and I always felt tired and depressed. I did not sleep well at night, and I had no appetite—my limbs would swell as in dropsy. It was at this stage that a neighbor advised me to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I had used the pills for some weeks before I began to feel their benefit, and thus encouraged I continued taking them for several months, when I was again as strong as well as ever I had been. I have no hesitation in saying that these pills are a remarkable blood builder and strength renewer and I shall ever be grateful for what they did for me."

You can get these pills from your druggist, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

King George Severe In Public Matters

But Easy Going In Private and Personal Affairs

Some of the Almeric Fitzroy "Indiscretions," about which too much fuss has been made, have at least had the advantage of bringing out certain aspects of King George's character and personality which, perhaps, were not sufficiently known to the man in the street. One of these is the King's severe punctiliousness in everything relating to the public service, as contrasted with his easy-going good nature in all private and personal affairs. A blundering royal servant may count on the mildest and most good humored rebukes, while a minister or state official who offends stands a good chance of a smart rap over the knuckles from "the highest quarter." With King Edward—keen statesman as he was—it was, oddly enough, the other way about.—London Mail.

Extra Funnels On Ships Are Useless

Only One Is Required To Carry Away Fumes

Many people are under the impression that the more funnels a ship has the faster she can steam. This is not the case, however.

Two liners have recently been fitted with three funnels each—to give them a more imposing effect.

There are many giant vessels afloat today carrying extra funnels that are nothing more or less than dummies, for modern engineering has proved it advantageous to bring all the "up-takes" from the boiler-rooms to one funnel only.

It is curious that motorships have at least one funnel. This is because the vessels contain boilers, although they are not used for creating steam to propel the ship. They are for the hot water systems and central heating. Some means have to be found for carrying away the fumes—hence the motorships are fitted with funnels.

An Oil that is Prized Everywhere.—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil was put upon the market without any flourish over fifty years ago. It was put up to meet the wants of a small section, but as soon as its merits became known it had a whole continent for a field, and it is now known and prized throughout this continent. There is nothing equal to it.

Predicts Aerial Cities

An amazing picture of future cities built far above the earth on platforms reached by tower elevators is presented by Frederick Kiesler, a prominent young Viennese architect. He predicts that houses in the future will be built on platforms supported by steel girders several hundred feet above the ground. They will be erected above beautiful gardens, shady forests, or even above lakes or the sea. Platforms will be provided, too, as landing places for aeroplanes, he believes.—Popular Science Monthly.

Burnside

Mrs. Adams of Denbigh, Ontario, who has been spending a month in B.C., arrived on Thursday to visit her brother John D. Greer.

A wedding of interest to Burnside people took place on October 12th, when Miss Anne Davidson, formerly of this district, now residing in Fernleigh, Alberta, was married to Wm. Palmer, a young farmer of that locality. Congratulations.

Halloween passed off so quietly that we were wondering if all the boys, both big and small, had forgotten, or if they were just busy.

Mr. Albert Spraggs and family spent Sunday at Noah Eckel's.

Mr. Frank Reek accompanied by his wife and Mrs. Griffin spent Sunday in the district.

The children of Burnside School and their teacher, Mr. Haskins, held a very pleasant Halloween party at the school on Friday afternoon.

Threshing is general again. If the nice weather continues about two weeks will finish everything up in this line. Here's hoping for good weather.

W. I. Conference

The sixth annual Didsbury constituency conference was held at Didsbury on October 23rd, Mrs. Pearson, convenor, presiding. A busy session followed Six W.I.'s reported. Reports were received from most of the convenors of standing committees, and a good deal of activity was shown along the different lines of work. A report of a new branch of the Women's Institute formed last July, known as the Cremona W.I., was submitted by the president, Mrs. Palmer. They have twenty-three members. During the session some excellent papers and reports were read. Mrs. Dawson gave her paper on "Famous Canadian Women," written for Mountain View W.I., for the contest. Enough to say for the paper that it got the first prize. Mrs. Fulton gave a paper on "National events and Canadianization," showing what an important subject it is at the present time. Mrs. Montgomery, district director, gave a paper on music in the home. The convention was favored with two delightful solos, one by Mrs. Montgomery, the other by Mrs. George Clarke. Instrumental music on the violin and piano and a comical reading by Mrs. Hosegood were much enjoyed and appreciated.

The members and delegates, who numbered about fifty, were entertained to dinner by the Didsbury W.I.

It was voted to hold the 1926 conference in Didsbury.

LUTHERAN SERVICES POSTPONED

In place of the regular English service, a German reading service will be held at the Westcott Lutheran church, Sunday morning next. Rugby services have been postponed to the afternoon of November 22nd. Changes are due to the fact that the local pastor will speak at a Mission festival in Claresholm on Sunday—C. Nissen, pastor.

A Brighter Day For Europe

It is a long lane that has no turning. For seven long and difficult years Europe has been travelling a rocky road trying to find a way out of the morass of hatreds, bigotry, racial discords and suspicions, and the financial wreckage following the conclusion of the Great War. Conference has followed conference, commission after commission has struggled with the problems involved, the League of Nations has patiently sought to smooth away difficulties, remove misunderstandings and create a general feeling of confidence, the while supplying checks to unwise and aggressive action calculated to re-open old sores.

Slowly but surely progress was made notwithstanding the fact that the United States refused to join in the League or to participate in conferences and commissions except those which involved questions affecting payments of war debts, in which the United States is vitally interested. Had the United States, removed, as it is, from the local prejudice and jealousies of continental Europe, taken a disinterested part in helping to work out European problems, it is safe to say that greater progress would have been made, and the standing of the United States among the nations of the world would have been immeasurably higher today.

Great Britain, however, true to all her great traditions, and notwithstanding her own many and serious domestic problems and crushing war debt, steadfastly planned and worked for the salvation of Europe. Possibly to a greater extent than ever before has Great Britain demonstrated her world leadership. This may not be fully appreciated as yet, but future historians when they come to record the progress of world events and European reconstruction after the Great War can hardly fail to award credit to whom credit is due.

And at last the turning in the long lane would appear to have been reached in the conclusions unanimously arrived at by the conference recently concluded at Locarno, Switzerland, and effect to which will shortly be given by the signing of six new treaties, and one of which is a document by which Germany, France and Belgium agree to arbitrate all disputes among themselves, with Great Britain and Italy as guarantors. In other words, should Germany break faith, both Great Britain and Italy are automatically arrayed with France and Belgium; should France or Belgium violate the agreement, Great Britain and Italy will support Germany.

Unlike the old Triple Alliance between Germany, Austria-Hungary and Italy, or the alliance between France and Russia, or the Bonnet Entente between Great Britain and France, which were pledges to go to war in support of each other should certain contingencies arise, this new treaty is one guaranteeing peace and the prevention of war.

The credit for the Locarno conference belongs to the Foreign Secretary of Great Britain, Hon. Austen Chamberlain, who brought it about and presided over it. His was the directing genius which led to the final removal of all obstacles and brought about this happy culmination which, it is agreed by all observers and students of international affairs, ushers in an entirely new era in European politics.

One of the important results to follow from the Locarno conference and the drafting of these new treaties will be the early entry of Germany into full membership in the League of Nations. So long as the great central nation of Europe remained outside, the League could not possibly become the dominating factor in Europe and the world which its creators designed it should be. But with Germany in, the League of Nations will become reality in an entirely new sense. Many of its greatest difficulties and most serious problems will thereby be removed. It may even pave the way for a changed public opinion in the United States and the ultimate acceptance of the League Covenant by Canada's next door neighbor, a consummation most devoutly to be wished.

Prevention of Disease

Medical science is stressing more and more the prevention of disease as against the cure of disease. But in nearly every case the science of prevention is little more than the science of food.

What medicine needs is less serum chemistry and more food chemistry, less hokum and more common sense.—Vancouver Sun.

Illustrating Smallness of Atom

To illustrate the infinitesimal size of an atom, Professor Niels Bohr told a meeting of Scandinavian mathematicians that to count the atoms contained in one cubic centimeter of air, all the peoples of the earth, white and negro, would have to count for more than 1,000 years and then their task would not be finished.

An automatic train stop, acting by electric induction, has been installed on a branch line of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, and is expected to eliminate collisions.

One-Dish Dinner

In many families it is a problem to serve up a simple meal on one course. Here is a dish that will please a family of six, besides having the indispensable elements of nourishment:

- 2 cups cooked macaroni.
- 1 cup cooked carrots (diced).
- 2 tablespoons grated onion.
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley.
- 2 tablespoons chopped fresh red pepper.
- 1 cup chopped ham.
- 6 tablespoons buttered crumbs.
- 1 cup Borden's St. Charles Milk.
- 1 cup water.
- 2 tablespoons butter.
- 2 tablespoons flour.
- 1 teaspoon salt.
- 1/2 teaspoon paprika.

Cook macaroni in boiling salted water 35 minutes. Make a white sauce of butter, flour, milk, water, salt, paprika. Place a layer of macaroni in a well-greased baking dish. Sprinkle with ham, carrots and seasonings. Repeat until all are used. Pour over all the white sauce. Cover top with bread crumbs and bake in a moderate oven for 40 minutes.

Report That Japanese Professor Has Perfected Two Inventions

Prof. Ryugo Inouye, of the Seiryo Agricultural School in Uyeda is reported to have perfected two inventions that are expected to greatly affect the silk industry. One of these is said to be a device to produce new silk from old rags and scraps, while the other is a simple method of obtaining silk direct from silkworms without waiting for the formation of the cocoons.

Use Of Aeroplanes In North Limited

Hummock Ice Renders Operation Uncertain Says Donald MacMillan

Dirigibles are the only aircraft that will be able to thoroughly and satisfactorily explore the Arctic wastes, according to Commander Donald MacMillan, who has returned from his latest expedition to the north. Aeroplanes are feasible to a certain extent, the commander said, but their operation is surrounded by great uncertainty on account of the difficulty of landing anywhere away from the home base.

The ice is hummocky, and to alight upon it invites great danger, and normally means that it will be almost impossible to rise again, even if serious injury is avoided in gliding down. In a word, planes, to be safe, must fly directly from their base and return home without alighting.

Must Maintain Navy

If Great Britain were a continental power she could see her navy go with equanimity, but Great Britain is not England alone. It is South Africa. It is Australia. It is Canada. It is the Pacific. It is the Seven Seas. Take the Union Jack from the masthead of the British navy and it is goodbye to the Commonwealth. The British empire is the British fleet. If we are to preserve the one we must maintain the other.—London Daily Express.

MAY ESTABLISH A NEUTRAL ZONE IN THE BALKANS

Paris.—A neutral demilitarized zone between Greece and Bulgaria, with commissions of conciliation for the adjusting of all local conflicts in the Balkans, may be one of the fruits of the settlement of the Balkan crisis provided by the council of the League of Nations.

Giving a spur to the Balkan states' ambition to elaborate the security pact, the council will probably undertake to establish principles to guide the Balkan statesmen in handling any future difficulties, and will exert all possible influence to have the Locarno security agreement with Germany supplemented not only by a Balkan arrangement, but also by security pacts between other sections of Europe.

Thus will it hasten the convocation of a disarmament conference, which the Locarno protocol holds as one of the hoped-for results of the achievement of security.

The Balkan crisis, which came at the psychological moment in the new peace impulse given to European politics, has taken on international significance which entirely overshadows the conflict between Greece and Bulgaria. Four great powers, France, Great Britain, Italy and Japan, and six lesser powers, representing both the European and American continents, which together make up the membership of the council, solemnly registered their conviction and determination that henceforth conciliation and arbitration, and not the thunder of cannon, must be resorted to when disputes arise between states.

Col. Mitchell Says Court Martial Has No Authority To Try Case

Washington.—After having secured the retirement of three members of the court martial chosen to try him, Col. William Mitchell challenged the jurisdiction of the court.

The colonel pleaded that the allegations against him did not constitute any offence falling properly under the articles of war, and that a court martial therefore was without authority to try the case.

May Be Message From Wrecked Coaster

Found In Bottle Off Wark Island October 24

Vancouver.—What may prove to be a message from men who died at sea nearly a year ago was picked up off Wark Island, Graham Beach, October 24.

D. Cordilla, of Butedale, which is Graham Beach, found a bottle containing a message purporting to come from the lost coaster Haysport Number 2, which disappeared with all hands in Mill Bank Sound during a storm on January 28, 1925.

The ship was proceeding north with a cargo of explosives for one of the northern mines with four men on board, Captain Partington, Mate Addison, Engineer Polley and a deck hand named Wood. She was last sighted in the storm heading to sea. Later, some wreckage was picked up, but no sign of the ship herself. And none of the bodies of those on board was ever recovered.

Mr. Cordilla reported that the note reads: "We are wrecked at Mill Bank Sound. No escape from drowning. (Signed) Steamer Haysport."

Disastrous Blaze In New Brunswick Village

Fourth In Four Years To Damage Business Section

Peticodiac, N.B.—Fire for the fourth time in the last four years swept through a portion of the business section of this village and caused damage estimated at more than $40,000, in spite of efforts of the volunteer fire force with buckets and hand pumps.

The fire, the origin of which is unknown, burned to the ground five stores and three houses and scorched several other buildings including a hotel and two more stores.

The blaze raises the total of fire loss in the village to nearly half a million dollars in the last few years and each time it was the business section which was hit. Some of the structures burned have been built several times within a few years and were modern structures.

Variable Weather In London

London.—Within ten minutes in one day recently the London hotel and shopping district experienced hail, sleet, rain, lightning and thunder—but no fog.

Many visitors here have been disappointed when informed that the real fogs occur only in winter.

U. S. Navy Celebrates

Washington.—The United States navy recently celebrated its 150th birthday with expressions of optimism and official assurances that the morale of the nation's first line of defence is still high, and that its leaders are looking toward the future, undismayed by past events.

Secures Largest Moose

Fredericton, N.B.—E. C. Rogers, of Putnam, Conn., has secured the largest moose head taken out of New Brunswick forests during the 1925 hunting season. The animal had a spread of 64 inches. Mr. Rogers obtained his trophy in the Bald Mountain district on the Miramichi.

WHEAT POOL WOULD ACQUIRE MORE ELEVATORS

Regina.—The following statement has been issued by officials of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool:

"A step which it is expected will have far-reaching consequence for the future of the association was taken by the delegates of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool at their annual meeting held recently when they decided after a full discussion, that authority be given to the board to enter into negotiations with the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company with a view to acquiring their elevator system at the earliest possible date.

"One of the objectives of the pool since the early stages of organization has been the acquiring of its own facilities for the purpose of handling its members' grain. The first step in this objective was taken at the extraordinary meeting of delegates held in February when the incorporation of the Saskatchewan Pool Elevators Limited was confirmed, and the board of directors was instructed to acquire elevators at points in Saskatchewan not already served by the Farmers' Companies, where 10,000 or more wheat acres had been signed up under contract to the pool. A further step was taken when it was decided that elevators should also be acquired at shipping stations served by the Farmers' Companies where the pool controlled 30,000 or more wheat acres. Under this policy 86 elevators have either been purchased or erected and are in operation for the 1925 crop."

Advocate Germicide Surgery

Use Amply Justified Says American College of Surgeons

Philadelphia.—A movement that may result in the abolition of the use of the knife in all minor and some major operations was started at the fifteenth annual congress of the American College of Surgeons.

The board of regents of the college decided to inaugurate at the centennial of the birth of Lord Lister, organizer of antiseptic and germicide surgery, next April, a campaign of research and propaganda for the development and more universal use of those germicides which attack diseased cells in the body without destroying healthy tissues. The board resolved that the use of such germicides instead of the knife had already been amply justified, and also that the profession should know more about the new technique.

If a man had an internal abscess, speakers said, the only treatment had been the knife. It was pointed out that a germicide had been discovered which would destroy the abscess cells and leave the living tissues unharmed.

New French Cabinet

Name of M. Caillaux Does Not Appear in the List

Paris.—Premier Painleve has succeeded in completing a cabinet which is satisfactory to everybody. M. Painleve takes over the portfolio of minister of finance. Aristide Briand retains the post of foreign minister. Other portfolios were distributed as follows:

Minister of Justice—M. Chautemps.
Minister of the Interior—M. Schrameck.
Minister of Works—M. De Monzie.
Minister of War—M. Daladier.
Minister of Marine—Emile Borel.
Minister of Commerce—M. Chautemps.

Minister of Agriculture—Jean Durand.

Minister of Instruction—M. Delphos.

Minister of the Colonies—Paul Morel.

Minister of Labor—M. Duraufour.

Minister of Pensions—M. Antierou.

The under-secretaries are understood not to have been changed, and the new combination tends slightly more to the left than the former cabinet.

It is significant that the name of M. Caillaux, minister of finance in the cabinet just dissolved, and the man who precipitated the present crisis because of his proposals on debt adjustment and currency devaluation, does not appear in the new ministerial list.

Saskatchewan Registered Seed Growers Lease Plant at Moose Jaw

Regina.—Unanimous approval of the proposal made by the directors of the Saskatchewan Registered Seed Growers' Association to lease the Moose Jaw plant for a year with an option to purchase has been given by the shareholders voting.

The association will open the plant this week, when ears of wheat, oats, barley and flax will begin arriving at the plant to be cleaned and inspected for registration by the Canadian Seed Growers' Association.

E. G. Booth, M.S.A., has been appointed superintendent of the plant which has a capacity of 250,000 bushels. W. E. Walker, B.S.A., will be the Dominion seed inspector at the plant.

M. P. Tullis, manager for the association, said the plant would also accept custom cleaning for farmers in the Moose Jaw district at a nominal fee.

Complete Extension To Plant

Saskatoon.—"While we would not care to commit ourselves to a definite statement right away, we would not have bought property to provide for an extension of the present plant had the extension not been contemplated," said Thomas Reynolds, local manager for the Quaker Oats Company, when questioned as to the possibility of an extension to the company's plant this year.

His unexpected departure, friends say, represents a determination by young Stinnes to seek a new business environment.

EXPLANATION OF FATAL RIOTING IN DAMASCUS

Alexandria, Egypt.—Reports that the fatal rioting in Damascus was caused by the action of the French in exhibiting bodies of rebels executed in the neighborhood of the city, is reiterated by refugee Syrians arriving here from Beirut.

The leader of the revolt was a Mohammedan chief named Hassan El Kharat who entered Damascus at the head of a mixed force of Mohammedans and Druse tribesmen. Hassan sent criers throughout the city inviting people to remain in their houses, and then attacked a police post in the Chagour quarter.

Next he moved against posts in Medan and Bab Tuma, the Christian quarter. The French forces and their families withdrew to the Mezzi and Bab-es-Salahiyeh quarters in the north of the city, and opened a bombardment on the Chagour, Medan and Babesgi quarters, which are densely populated. Shells fell every three minutes, incendiary and high explosive. The bombardment lasted 48 hours.

A delegation of notables approached General Gamelin and appealed for a cessation of the bombardment, since the rioters had evacuated the town to save their relatives. General Gamelin, the refugee declares, replied that he would not cease firing and the bombardment continued a further six hours.

Toronto Honors

Robert J. Fleming

Street Traffic Suspended Two Minutes During Funeral Service

Toronto.—Toronto's street traffic ceased for two minutes and many people stood in the snowswept streets with bared and bowed heads when the funeral service of one of the city's favorite sons, Robert J. Fleming, street railway magnate, was held at the Timothy Eaton Memorial Church.

Seldom has the city of Toronto witnessed such general demonstration of mourning in connection with the death of one of its citizens.

From 12:30 to 2:30 o'clock the body lay in state at the church and hundreds of people passed to pay their last respects.

The body was interred in Mount Pleasant cemetery.

Alberta By-Elections

Announcement of the decision to hold by-elections rather than a general election, was made by Premier Greenfield last week.
